

Sinclair Broadcast Group's use of public airwaves to air political propaganda free of charge is some of the clearest evidence of the danger of media consolidation in recent years. (Clear channel radio is another good example.) Please strengthen media ownership rules instead of weakening them. It is becoming harder and harder to find unrestricted information. In recent years I have noticed an alarming trend.

As I switch channels on TV or stations on the radio looking for a fresh perspective on a story, I hear the same story read verbatim on channel after channel. This is not why we provide these channels free of charge.

Now Sinclair is using free public airwaves to try and influence the presidential election by airing a piece of political propaganda and calling it news. There seems to be no way to stop it. This is shameful.
